

Graduate Of High School Eligible For Air Training

An Aviation Cadet Selection Team, equipped to interview and partially process prospective applicants for flying training in the Air Force will visit Hondo on November 2nd. The team, from Lackland Air Force Base, will furnish information on the USAF Aviation Cadet Program and accept applications from young men interested in flying training as pilots and aircraft observers.

Captain Frank B. Kepner, a member of the team, stated that the Aircraft Observer portion of the Cadet Program is now open to men with only a high school education. Until recently applicants were required to have at least two years of college.

Aircraft Observer Cadets are trained to perform duties as navigators, performance engineers, bombardiers, and radar specialists in modern Air Force aircraft. There is no waiting list for entry into this program since classes start every two weeks and are not restricted by the regular Air Force enlistment quotas. According to Captain Kepner the team is equipped to accomplish screening examinations. Successful applicants then go to Lackland Air Force Base to determine full qualification. Applicants are under no obligation to the Air Force until found fully qualified and assigned to a Cadet Class; then they enlist for a period of two years. Upon successful completion of training they are commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve.

While in the city, the team will be located in the Court House from 9:30 A. M. to 4:00 P. M. Anyone desiring information concerning Air Force flying training is invited to contact the team during their visit.

WARHORSES EDGE OUT GEORGE WEST FRIDAY

By Mrs. E. R. Littleton
DEVINE—The Warhorses put fans through torture Friday night at Warhorse Stadium. The score was 13-0 in favor of George West at the end of the first half. Several of the boys were injured and Irwin and Dubose were not in the starting line up. Dubose came in for one play, but went back to the bench. However, the Warhorses came back the second half to score 13 points, winning the game by 1 penetration. This week they meet Poteet Aggies at Warhorse Stadium.

Mrs. Frances Love has been quite ill for several days. Her niece, Mrs. Mahaffey is staying with her during her illness.

Sid Malone, Duane Newcomb, Johnny Kenagy and Duck Dubose attended the Rice-Texas game at Austin Saturday.

The high school carnival will be held at Warhorse Stadium on Saturday night. Highlights of the carnival will be the coronation of the carnival queen, the junior follies, bingo stand and cake walk. Numerous other booths will be sponsored by different classes.

Winter Dairying Calls For Good Feed Supply

With the first blue norther only a short time away, the production of many Texas dairy herds may be vitally affected by the amount of feed put into storage before "Jack Frost" makes his official appearance.

In citing management practices that may mean success or failure for some milk producers, R. E. Burleson, extension dairy husbandman, urges dairymen to lay in an adequate roughage supply. Two tons of good quality hay or one ton of hay and three tons of silage should be in storage for each cow in the herd, Burleson says.

Take steps to conserve feed. A little time devoted to repairing managers, hay racks and feed troughs will save feed stuffs that most likely will be welcomed before spring. Even the best hay, the specialist points out, loses its attractiveness to dairy cows after being trampled and kicked around in the sand, dirt and mud. Palatability can be maintained and waste losses prevented by using a good hay rack.

And finally, horns have no place in dairy herds, regardless of the season. Not only can dairy animals be handled easier, but dehorned cows can be housed and fed in less space, Burleson adds.

Dodge Offers New Royal V-8 for 1954

Highlight of the 1954 Dodge line is the new super deluxe series known as the Royal V-8. A completely new interior styling is keyed to harmonize with 11 different body colors and 14 two-tone combinations. The Royal V-8 series is keynoted by Jacquard upholstery fabric, previously used only for rich tapestries and expensive furniture. On the exterior, a new spear-like chrome moulding accents the low, sweeping lines and lends a smooth, modern look. There also is a new grille design and treatment of headlights, taillights and wheel covers. The 1954 Dodge line also introduces such engineering advancements as PowerFlite, a new fully-automatic transmission; the economy-and-endurance tested Red Ram V-8 engine stepped up to 150 h.p. and 7.5 to 1 compression ratio; and a new type full-time power steering unit. The Coronet Six and Meadowbrook Six have been stepped up to 110 h.p. and 7.25 to 1 compression ratio.

LaCoste News

LACOSTE—An oversight occurred in the report in last week's issue of The Anvil Herald of the coronation at the community carnival on October 17th. Names were omitted from the report of four very important members of the queen's court, tiny tots representing the first and second grades as follows: Jessie Louise Pope and Alice Tanner, train-bearers of the queen; and Richard Davis and Harold Benke, pages to the king. We regret these names were omitted from the first report.

The favorites of the high school classes in LaCoste have been selected by the students as follows: Seniors, Irene Biediger and Calvin Hutzler; Juniors, Marlene Salzman and Franklin Bohl; Sophomores, Roma Lee Hargroder and Bobbie Grossenacker; Freshmen, Norma Marie Tschirhart and Jerome Hitzfelder. The all-high school favorites elected by the majority vote of the entire school are Betty Mechler of the senior class and James Geiger of the junior class. Pictures of these students will be featured in the '54 yearbook.

To be announced later the pep squad and the FHA beaux and the football and the FFA sweethearts.

Reduced Cotton Acreage Hits Farm Economy

WACO — The Texas Farm Bureau Federation is taking the issue of reduced cotton acreage directly to the farmers in an effort to obtain an increased allotment next year, President J. Walther Hammond said today.

Pointing out that the allotted acreage for 1954 will mean a drastic reduction in producers' income, the state farm leader announced that special meetings have been called to discuss the situation. The sessions were held Oct. 26-27 in 11 cities over the state.

The 1954 cotton allotment of 7,304,000 acres for Texas represents about a 40 per cent reduction from the 1952-53 planted acreage, and will mean a decrease of some $350 million for Texas producers, based on average yields and present prices.

Stressing the seriousness of the acreage reduction, Hammond stated, "There are about 150,000 cotton farmers in the state. If 40 per cent of their income from cotton is taken away, the result will be disastrous, not only for agriculture, but also for the rest of the economy. Farmers have experienced a drop in income for the past two years, and they can ill afford such a sharp decline now."

Farmers will be able to make their opinions known through the county Farm Bureau resolutions. These resolutions will be voted upon by delegates to the 20th annual state convention to be held Nov. 9-11 in Mineral Wells.

JURY SERVICE IS CIVIC DUTY

Jury service is one of the highest attributes of our American citizenship, for by it the citizen participates in the administration of justice between men and man between government and the individual.

Suppose Mr. Jones and Mr. Smith have a lawsuit. They may be strangers to you, and in a sense you do not care who wins. But as a citizen you do care, and it is very important to you and all the people that there be a way by which disputes can be settled peaceably and justly, because some day you may become involved in a dispute and you would want that settled peaceably and justly.

John Doe may be accused of a crime. He may be a stranger to you and you may never have heard of the offense with which he is charged. Still, it is important to you as a citizen that the laws be so enforced as to punish and discourage crime in order that you may be safe in your person, your property and your rights; and it is equally as important to you that no innocent person should be sent to prison, for if that could happen to another, it could happen to you.

Here are some tips to follow when serving on a jury: Hold yourself aloof from all persons (except other jurors) in any way connected with the trial of the case. That means that you should not mingle with nor talk to the lawyers, witnesses, parties, nor the judge, even though the discussion is wholly unrelated to the trial.

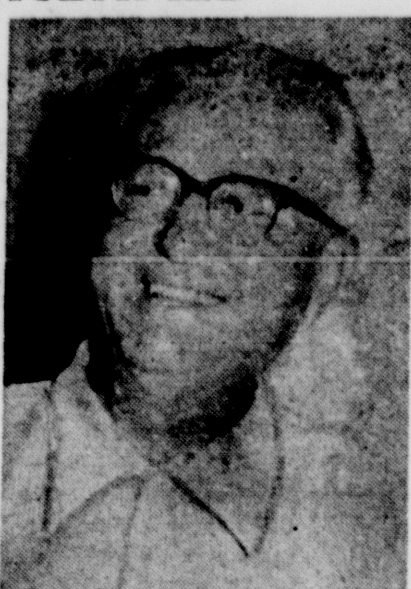

Do not discuss the case nor permit others to mention it to you or in your presence during the trial. If anyone insists upon talking about the case after you have explained to him that you are a juror and must not listen, report the matter to the judge immediately.

Do not commence your deliberations until you have heard all the evidence from both sides, the arguments of the lawyers, and the court's charge. You should not mention the case except in the jury room when all other jurors are present.

Do not become a private investigator. All properly admissible evidence has been placed before you. Do not try to search out additional facts you believe to have been omitted. Do not even guess or speculate about facts not in evidence.

Be attentive to the evidence as it is presented. If you are to properly aid the other jurors in settling the fact questions, it will be necessary to listen carefully to all evidence presented.

DR. ROTHE VISITS HERALD

Dr. H. H. Rothe, State Dairy Supervisor in Florida, a "misplaced" Texan, is visiting relatives and friends in Hondo and stopped by to tour the Anvil Herald shop.

Dr. and Mrs. Rothe, who live in Gainesville, Fla., are here for a brief visit. He said they could have come earlier and stayed longer but after reading The Anvil Herald's reports on the drought situation, decided against an earlier trip. Upon reading about the recent rains and cooler weather, the Rothes decided the time was right even though previous commitments would make their stay a short one.

Dr. Rothe has subscribed to the Anvil Herald for many years and says he reads it from cover to cover in order to keep up with the homefolks and town. He is usually the first to send in his membership dues to the Hondo Chamber of Commerce, and it is evident from his comments that he is proud of Hondo.

He graduated from Hondo High school and took the first two years of his college work toward a degree in veterinary medicine at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. He completed the work for his degree at Ohio State University.

Dr. Rothe taught at the University of Georgia for a number of years before accepting his present position with the State of Florida with offices at the University of Florida. His work is interesting in that it deals in research on cattle diseases which are communicable to man. He holds courses for the state sanitarians, supervises the county food inspectors, and fills many speaking engagements over the state.

Dr. Rothe is the son of the late Henry and Anna Rothe who were life-long residents of Medina County.

inion of the facts. You are the judge of the facts. He is not allowed and will not try to invade your province. His rulings on admissibility of evidence reflect no ideas or opinions on any fact question.

You should not mention or discuss your own personal experiences, or any knowledge that you may have of similar transactions. If you should disclose such information to others serving on a jury, you court would have to grant a new trial.

AUSTIN—Thirty of the conservative Democratic leaders held a private meeting here and laid plans to retain control of the party in Texas through the precinct, county, and state conventions next year.

Among those present were Wallace Savage of Dallas, state democratic committee chairman; and George Sandlin of Austin, secretary; and Claude Gilmer of Rocksprings, chairman of the Texas Democrats for Eisenhower campaign in 1952.

This session came three months after organizers had begun their work, looking to next year's struggle with the liberal Democrats. Governor Shivers was present, but according to reports coming out of the meeting he gave no indication as to whether he would be a political candidate, and if so, in which race.

TPA
Texas Young Democrats have become a new focal point in the old political feud.

Dormant since 1947, the organization is being built up again, says Boyd Taylor, a University of Texas student.

Taylor reports that according to the rules, state organizations must get a new permit every two years from the National Young Democrats and pay a $100 fee.

This requirement has been carried out by his group, Taylor says. As evidence, he shows a telegram from John F. McCarthy of Bridgeport, Conn., treasurer of the national organization.

Taylor's associates are the Adlai Stevenson type of Democrats, as opposed to the Shivers type. Several young Texans met with Stephen Mitchell, chairman of the National Democratic Executive Committee, when he was here last July, says Taylor, at that time Mitchell suggested that the young Texans get a charter.

TPA
Now let's get to the other side of the argument.

George Sandlin of Austin, secretary of the Texas Democratic Executive Committee, says he never officially heard of Boyd Taylor.

According to Sandlin Taylor's group failed to follow the prescribed procedure, which is to be certified by the state Democratic chairman, the national committeeman and committee-woman.

"None of these had certified Taylor's group," Sandlin said.

As far as the State Democratic Executive committee is concerned, the present head of the Texas Young Demos is Max Triplett of Hillsboro, who occupied that position in 1947, and for whom no successor has officially been chosen.

TPA
So—here we go again, the so-called liberal democrats versus the so-called conservative Democrats.

Boyd Taylor and his Young Demos, on the liberal side, plan a state convention in San Antonio Friday and Saturday (October 30-31).

Among the speakers will be Ralph Yarborough of Austin, who lost to Shivers in the race for governor last year; and Byron Skelton of Temple, who has opposed Shivers' party leadership.

TPA
Texas Republicans, meanwhile, were carrying forward their own election plans for 1954.

But Sen. Price Daniel, in a speech at San Antonio, said he does not think they have much chance.

"Texas is a Democratic state," the senator said. "I don't think the Republicans are going to win any (statewide) offices next year. Eisenhower's victory in Texas in 1952 was not a Republican triumph, but a personal victory for Ike, in Daniel's view."

TPA
There will be no special session of the Legislature on drought relief at this time, the governor has announced.

In an official memorandum, Attorney General John Ben Shepperd ruled that the governor can use his $200,000 deficiency appropriation to finance a state-federal hay program.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, in Shepperd's opinion, is empowered to administer the program for Texas.

The governor's deficiency appropriation is the Legislature's authority to the chief executive to spend money for any necessary purpose that may be unforeseen while routine appropriations of state moneys are being made.

With $200,000 the governor estimates, the drought relief program can be carried along for a couple of months. After that time

SERGEANT AT ARMS IS ELECTED BY CLASS 7-A

The 7-A class of the Hondo Elementary School had a meeting Monday, October 19th. The president called the meeting to order. The president asked if there was any old business. Dennis Pichot asked that a sergeant-at-arms be elected. The class voted and elected Jerry Neuman. Then the president asked if there was any new business and there wasn't. There is 40c in the treasury. The meeting was turned over to the program chairman. We had a short play. The class said the pledge of allegiance. Harold Cornelison played the "Easy Steps March" on his baritone horn and Donald Muennink played Yankee Doodle on his clarinet and the class sang America. The meeting was adjourned.

Texas oil production was reduced again, for the third straight month, by the Railroad Commission.

November's quota is 2,803,528 barrels daily, 360,374 barrels less than the figure for July, when the downward trend began.

From the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association came cries of protest at the drop in production.

Associate spokesman protested that the reduction in Texas oil production comes about by virtue of the importation of foreign oil. "We have merely forfeited more of our domestic market to foreign oil," said M. D. Bryant of San Angelo, president of the association.

Imports of foreign oil amounted to 869,125 barrels in September, according to reports received by the Railroad Commission.

TPA
There are too many insurance companies in Texas.

So says Garland A. Smith, newly appointed chairman of the State Board of Insurance Commissioners.

Smith added that he intends to draft legislation that will cut down the number of new insurance companies which have insufficient securities to protect holders of their policies.

There are now 1,822 insurance companies operating in Texas, Smith said. Of the total 500 are Texas companies and the others are national companies with branches in Texas.

"That's far too many," Smith asserted. He cited that three companies have liquidated in the last year, and one company could not meet $800,000 in liabilities.

TPA
Tightened enforcement of the liquor laws will be possible by the addition of 10 new inspectors for the Texas Liquor Control Board.

Coke R. Stevenson, Jr., the board's administrator, announced that a training school will begin November 2 for selected candidates who seek the jobs.

After an intensive course of study, they will take an examination, and those who pass it will start work as inspectors.

Because most of these men will be assigned to the undercover squad, the trainees' names are not given.

It is the responsibility of undercover men to gather evidence regarding violators of the Texas Liquor Control Act.

TPA
For years, the Legislature has worried over laws regulating the annexation of territory by cities.

Still troublesome, the question will get a going-over by a Texas Legislative Council committee, composed of Senators Gus J. Strauss of Hallettsville, Neveille H. Colson of Navasota, and Jep S. Fuller of Port Arthur, and Rep. Marshall O. Bell of San Antonio, Charles Murphy of Houston, Scott P. Sayers of Fort Worth, and Tom King of Dallas.

How to provide for the orderly expansion of cities while protecting the property rights of citizens is the problem.

Lt. Governor Ben Ramsey is chairman of the council. He also appointed committees on game and fish laws, juvenile code, and revising Texas' court system.

TPA
This week, calls for 1,264 men were being placed in the mail by Texas draft boards. To be inducted in December, the draftees will join 1,210 to go into the service in November and 1,208 summoned for October induction.

TPA
Texans ought to "learn more about the aims and organization of the United Nations so that they may lend more support to its underlying ideas and spirit."

Those words are from Governor Shivers' proclamation designating last Saturday United Nations Day.

Industry Needs More Water

Texas's almost miraculous industrial progress during the last decade has attracted nationwide attention. Many new manufacturing establishments, big and little, have sprung up over the State. An enormous overall addition has been made to the productive capacity of the United States.

We want to continue our industrial growth. Development of large and dependable water supplies is essential to maintenance of the rate of Texas industrial growth. Water is the lifeblood of modern industry.

These needed supplies will have to come from water resources not used at present. That is a primary conclusion of an appraisal of the Texas water problem made by the Bureau of Reclamation.

The Bureau reports that Texas has a potential water supply more than sufficient to take care of all foreseeable industrial and farm and municipal needs. Our present use of water represents only about 15 per cent of the water available, year after year, from Texas streams.

The water problem facing our State is two-fold. First, we must take steps to conserve as much as possible of the 85 per cent of the total supply that now runs off into the Gulf of Mexico and is lost to us. Second, we must devise and put into effect a distribution system that will get adequate supplies of water to the places where they are most needed.

Admittedly, this challenge is no puny one. But it is one that must be met. Only by meeting it can we take advantage of the unparalleled economic opportunity before us.

Every phase of our anticipated industrial development will require increased supplies of water. The Bureau of Reclamation predicts, for example, that eventually industries and municipalities in the Gulf Coast area will require an annual water supply 50 times as large as the present usage.

The Bureau report suggests new and revised programs aimed primarily at transforming Texas' potential water resources into available water supplies. Estimates economic gains that would come to Texas as a result of carrying out these programs. It discusses the character of Federal interest in the Texas water problem. It outlines respect both State and national interests.

The solution of our water problem is vitally important to Texas, of course. But not to Texas alone. The entire Nation has great stake in solving this problem. The Nation needs the additional manufactured goods and farm products that would come with greater utilization of Texas water resources.

Fasellers Bred Sunday

Mrs. Henry Faseller celebrated their six-year anniversary last night in the presence of children and their families. A supper was served at the family homestead east of where the couple has lived for the past several years.

Marriage service was performed in the New Fountain at Church October 26, by the pastor Rev. Henry J. Jorgensen. Not many who attended the wedding are still with us, but two attendants, bride and groom of long standing, are still living. They are Jacob Sathoff of San Antonio and George Wiemers of Hondo. It can truly be said of this couple, "They lived together."

The early married life they have lived in Texas is a life of courage and fortitude. With hard labor of their own hands they have established themselves a substantial ranch home where they have entertained their many friends for all of these years.

Three children of the family, Mrs. Charles Kueck of Hondo, and John and Ed Faseller, are still living. About twenty guests attended the celebration.

Babies

Sue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin T. Wiemers, was born Tuesday, October 21, 1953, at St. Louis Hospital, and weighed 8 1/2 ounces. She has a brother, James Franklin, 2, and a sister, Mary, 1, and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. Cochran, Moore, and Mrs. T. G. Wiemers.

American Cancer Society Given Big Grant

AUSTIN — The American Cancer Society today announced a cancer research grant of $75,000 to M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research in Houston, for use during the next 12 months.

The grant, the seventh consecutive annual ACS allocation to the hospital, will be used in many phases of cancer research, ranging from studies of cancer patients in research beds to basic investigations into how cancer starts.

The grant to M. D. Anderson, a branch of the University of Texas, is one of 39 American Cancer Society institutional awards made by the Society's Board of Directors as part of the 1953-54 research program.

Money for the ACS program is contributed each April by the American public during the Society's annual Cancer Crusade. More than $19,500,000 was given this year. The money is used for research, public and professional education and service to cancer patients.

Symphony Opens Season Saturday, Oct. 31

The San Antonio Symphony and Musical Director Victor Alessandro will open the 1953-54 season with the first of 15 subscription concerts next Saturday night (Oct. 31) at Municipal Auditorium here. Soloist for the occasion will be Roberta Peters, brilliant young coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera.

The orchestra's first program will include the Overture to "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; Symphony No. 5 in E. minor ("From the New World"), Dvorak, and "El Salon Mexico," Aaron Copland.

Miss Peters' program will include the Queen of the Night Aria, from "The Magic Flute" (Mozart), Caro Nome, from "Rigoletto" (Verdi), the "Shadow Song" (Ombre legere), from "Dinorah" (Meyerbeer), Or son solo, from "Fra Diavolo" (Auber) and "The Nightingale" (Alaabielf).

Diminutive, blue-eyed Roberta Peters first stepped into the limelight in November, 1950, when, at the age of 20, she scored a triumph in her Met debut, pinching a first prize on a few hours' notice. Since then she has won a place among the Met's first-rank singers and has also scored in London's Covent Garden, where Sir Thomas Beecham starred her in the Festival of Britain performance of "The Bohemian Girl."

In addition to her operatic performances, which have included leading roles in "Rigoletto," "The Barber of Seville," "Gianni Schicchi," "The M. a g i c Flute," and others, Miss Peters is a frequent performer on such television programs as Toast of the Town and Voice of Firestone.

Tickets for the opening concert are available, by mail or in person, at the Symphony box office, Municipal Auditorium.

Contract Of Sale In Home Purchase No Casual Matter

The signing of a contract of sale is an extremely important step in the purchase of a home. Once buyer and seller have signed, they are bound by the provisions of the contract. Their respective legal rights in the transaction are thereby set and determined. If the contract is poorly and haphazardly drawn, a harvest of regret may be reaped at a later date.

Sales contracts are often called by other names, such as earnest money contracts, binders, receipts, etc. All of them are for the same purpose and almost without exception involve the deposit of money by the buyer. Some require the seller to put up a good faith deposit. The fact that such deposited sums are usually to be forfeited in event the depositor later fails to go through with his specified contractual obligations lends additional weight to the often stated admonition that no contract should be signed without complete understanding as to its terms.

But many home purchasers (and sellers) rush to sign a hastily prepared contract with very little knowledge of its contents. The pressure of time, the informal appearance of the contract, and perhaps the fact that a partially printed form is used may contribute in causing the true importance of the act to be overlooked. At any rate, many are lulled into a lapse of good business judgment.

Every significant detail of the bargain should be crystallized in unmistakable terms in the contract of sale. Land and fixtures being sold should be clearly described. A complete description of the property by lot and block, or by metes and bounds, is a must, the street number being inadequate by itself.

If we do not truly, really feel that we are actually in the presence of Almighty God when we pray, our words—though they be heartfelt and earnest—may be meaningless. Each of us must search his own heart and soul to know how to feel God's presence—before we do that, our prayers are empty.

CATHOLIC, LACOSTE

About 700 people of Castroville, LaCoste, Hondo, Lytle and Natalia joined the procession honoring the Kingship of Christ, which was held at the school grounds of Our Lady of Grace Parish in LaCoste on Sunday afternoon, the 25th of October, at 3:00 o'clock.

Father Herbst, pastor of Our Lady of Grace Parish, carried the Blessed Sacrament for the procession and also gave the Benediction. Father Schmidtzyński, of St. Louis Parish, Castroville, led the Rosary during the procession.

A beautiful altar for the Benediction had been erected on the porch of the school. The Sister and some of the members of St. Ann's Society beautifully decorated the altar with asters, zinnias, coxcomb and roses.

Father George Eirich, spiritual director of Assumption Seminary, San Antonio, preached the sermon for the occasion. In his sermon Father brought out the contrast between the gathering of today honoring Christ as their King, and the gathering before the throne of Pilate demanding that Christ be crucified. That man, from childhood to the grave should offer up all this sufferings to the crucified Christ and bear his crosses patiently as did the Christ. That if the nations of the world are to have peace they must recognize the crucified Christ as their Lord and King.

Following the sermon those present offered the Act of Consecration of the Human Race to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, and then Father Herbst offered a prayer for all Religious and Civil Authorities. Following the Benediction all present sang "Holy God, we praise Thy Name."

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Freedom Of Press
Important To All

National Newspaper Week, recently concluded, served to focus public attention upon the value of a free and uncensored press. Perhaps it would be well to stop for a moment and consider the fact that freedom of the press is no accident in this country.

Instead, it stems from a specific guarantee in the U. S. Constitution. The right of freedom of the press is secured by the first amendment to the Federal Constitution, which says, "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of . . . the press." The Constitutions of the several states likewise contain similar guarantees.

Why did the farmers of New England, the planters of the South and the small storekeepers of Philadelphia, New York, and Boston insist some 150 years ago that the original Constitution be amended so that the people would be specifically guaranteed freedom of the press?

It was because the founders of our country had an abiding faith that enlightened citizens could be entrusted with the job of governing themselves. If they could have an unfettered opportunity to read the history and to learn the lessons of the past, to understand the never-ending clash of ideas, to read about what forces are alive in the world, to check on their government as to its activities, its successes, its failures and its abuses, and to write and speak unimpeded — then they could not be made slaves.

The framers of the Constitution believed that freedom of the press would aid in enlightening the people. The competition of ideas would point out the choices of the people. With this freedom, they could decide their own problems better, with more resulting happiness to themselves, their families and their communities. The men who wrote the Constitution knew intimately of those countries across the seas whose governments controlled thought, censored information and made political, economic religious decisions for their subjects. They believed in the principle of competition and the value of permitting every citizen to develop himself to the limits of his abilities, and they insisted that this right of freedom of the press be recognized by the fundamental law of the land.

Of course, all rights entail correlative obligations and duties. Freedom of the press is not unlimited. It does not permit libel, license, violation of the law nor interference with the orderly running of the government.

With but a few insignificant exceptions, the press of the free world has admirably justified the faith of the philosophy of the Constitution. From the Argentine northward through the Western Hemisphere, and in the free countries of the Old World, the "fourth estate" has fearlessly accepted its responsibility and has aided in preserving freedom and in checking tyranny and dictatorship.

Servicemen

Private JESUS D. LEYBA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bentura Leyba of Hondo, has recently graduated from the Airborne Jump School at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Pvt. Leyba is presently assigned to the 408th Airborne Quartermaster Company, stationed at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, home of the famed 11th Airborne Division "Angels." He is working in the field service platoon of the 408th as a light truck driver.

Pvt. Leyba entered the service in June of 1953 and received his basic training at Fort Hood, Texas and upon completion of his basic was sent to the 11th Airborne Division.

Sgt. X. X. JENKINS, better known as "Joe" to his many friends at the infirmary at Hondo Air Base, arrived back in the states on October 15 after being stationed in Korea. He arrived at Hondo Air Base with the first group of men in June 1951 and remained there until his transfer overseas. Jenkins will be stationed at Sheppard Field after November 13.

Pfc. LEROY HEILIGMAN, a member of the U. S. Army, whose parents, M&M Heiligman reside in Dunlay is stationed at Thule Air Base, Greenland. Pfc. Heiligman attended the Murphy School and was employed as a farmer, before entering the service October 27, 1952.

Thule Air Base is the northernmost base in the Northeast Air Command. Well above the Arctic Circle, it is situated just 800 miles south of the North Pole and 2,200 miles north of New York City. It will soon pass through the period of complete darkness. From the first part of November until the middle of February the sun will remain below the horizon and the months of December and January will be totally without light.

Thule is the most important link of Northeast Command Bases due to its strategic location at the very "Roof" of the world.

Pvt. FRANCISCO L. ALVAREZ, son of Mr. Antonio Alvarez, 1362 Fourteenth St., Hondo, recently joined the 25th Infantry Division in Korea.

The 25th Infantry was rushed to Korea during the early days of the conflict and took part in some of the fiercest battles on the peninsula. It is now undergoing intensive training to maintain its combat readiness.

Alvarez last served at Camp Breckedridge, Ky., where he completed basic training. In the Army since April, he formerly was employed by Chapman Grain Feed Seed in Hondo.

Pfc. PABLO CASTILLO, a member of the U. S. Army, whose parents, M&M Esteban reside in Star Route Hondo, is stationed at Thule Air Base, Greenland.

RADAR INSTRUMENTS TO MEASURE RAINFALL

AUSTIN—More accurate rainfall measurements through use of radar instruments will be a primary concern of weather and electronic experts meeting November 9-12 at the University of Texas.

The University will be host during the four-day period to the American Meteorological Society's 125th national meeting and to gatherings of four other radio and meteorological organizations.

Radar measurement of rainfall is expected to be far more efficient than water-gauge methods and to aid in planning soil conservation practices and dams.

Plans For Farm And Ranch Homes In Texas

COLLEGE STATION—Farm and ranch homes styled for Texas families includes special house plans adapted to climate and needs of persons living in this section of the country. Many of the plans collected by specialists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, include expandable types. Based on experimental research, the new farm houses consists of basic living room, kitchen, closet space and bath, each big enough to fit a larger house as bedrooms are added. The family grows into bedrooms without growing out of the living room and kitchen by using the expandable type house plans.

One plan, No. 6513 shows a growing farm house for southern conditions with a floor area for the first building of 490 square feet, and details for the first addition of 705 square feet to have a completed house of 1,015 square feet of floor space. The porch on the first unit would be 25 square feet in size, and the first addition would grow to 240 square feet.

During the first two stages of development adequate space will be found in the kitchen for dining but when two bedrooms are added in the final wing, the original bedroom adjoining the kitchen might be converted into a dining room.

Plan is for a permanent dwelling of frame, stucco, stone, adobe, or other construction. If desired, the first unit of 605 square feet may be built without bedrooms, and the living room used for sleeping quarters until the house is completed. Two large closets of the living room add much to its value, and the arrangement with all doors at one end of the room permits efficient use of the space.

If the first unit is to be used for several years before the bedrooms are added, the small bathroom with shower will be especially desirable. That space must be used for other purposes, however, and the bathroom fixtures moved when one or both bedrooms are added.

Other plans included in the publication B-172 Plans for Farm and Ranch Homes in Texas, vary in floor plan size from small to large houses. The specialists give general instruction to families when selecting a plan for meeting their particular needs, as well as a list of supplementary publications. County Extension agents' offices have copies of the publication upon request, and can assist families in getting working drawings for the recommended plans.

Arnold Wurzbach Tells Of His European Travel

By Dorothy Jean Wurzbach

Arnold Wurzbach, who returned from his European trip on October 20th, has written a short report of his travels.

"On September 6 I left SA via Houston, Atlanta, Georgia to New York, and from New York to the Azores to Paris. The plane ride was uneventful and smooth. 'Like sitting in a rocking chair.'

"I arrived in Zurich Switzerland on September 8. Zurich is a very beautiful city, the people are polite and friendly and speak German with a Swiss accent. On September 9th, I toured the nearby cities. I took a trip to the top of a Swiss Mountain by air car, running on a cable. It takes from 40 to 50 people at one time. On the mountains, it is cold and foggy. One can see about 25 yards distance. This trip lasted about ten hours. I saw meadows of green grass. Some cows were grazing, and people were working in the hay fields. The cows look like large Jerseys. In Switzerland they have beautiful flowers, and all the homes have flowers.

"On September 14th I arrived in Neurhausen, Germany. Here I visited relatives who were glad to see me and hear about America. They asked about the families of their distant relatives. There was no bomb damage in Neurhausen, everything was green there. The climate was cool.

"I stayed in the home of Otto Brodbeck—their home is nice. He works in a soap factory. Otto took me on a motor cycle ride through the nearby towns. At the time I was there, the Brodbecks were harvesting potatoes, the crop was good.

"On September 16th, Otto took me to Metzinger and there I took an electric train to Munchen, Germany, a city of about a million population. Munchen was severely damaged by bombs, but the greater part has been rebuilt. The buildings there are never more than seven or eight stories high. In Munchen the people speak high German; are polite,

NEWS FROM CASTROVILLE

Through an oversight, the name of Ronda Martin, daughter of M&M Clinton Martin, of Dunlay, was omitted from the Honor Roll list of students of the first grade.

S. "Dusty" Aono of SA will be the guest speaker at the November 10 meeting of the Castro Garden Club. Mr. Aono, who received his training in Japan, will lecture on flower arrangements.

and the churches are large with very high steeples.

"From Munchen I went to Schloss Ericksburg where the Loch family lives. I spent six days with the Loch family. They were very hospitable and showed me around. Here they have all kinds of fruit trees. The weather was cool and I had to use my overcoat. I also attended a wedding in the chapel of Schloss Ericksburg.

"Then from Munchen back to Zurich, from Zurich by plane to Rome, Italy. In Rome I saw St. Peter's Church. Rome is a city of statues. I took a trip through the Papal Museum, saw many statues, saw the 'Crucifixion of Peter' upside down, also the 'Ruin of Rome' where Peter preached to the Romans.

"From Rome I went to Madrid, Spain. Madrid is a clean city, a city of music and gaiety. On a sight-seeing tour I saw paintings, carpet weavery, and also went through University City, the largest in the world. The railroads are underground in Madrid.

"In Paris the traffic and railroads are underground. In Paris I saw many churches and one where Napoleon's family is buried in steel and giant caskets. Also saw the Eiffel Tower and the place where the Duke of Windsor lives when in Paris. In Paris I saw where the 'very rich' are buried. It is said 'When they die their souls go direct to heaven'—even without a passport.

"I went to a stage show while in Paris, the acting is very good and also good music. The prices are very high in Paris.

"On October 17 I left Paris arriving in SA on October 20."

St. Louis Comets Blaze Past Red Raiders, 19-0

By Gerald Kempf

CASTROVILLE—The St. Louis Comets lashed out a 19 to 0 victory over the Edgewood Red Raiders in a drenching downpour of rain at Edgewood last Friday night, thereby ending a six game winning streak for the Red Raiders. So hard was the downpour, that the game was called at the end of the first half with the Comets undoubtedly holding a commanding lead.

Mark Kempf and Harold Keller were the thorns in the sides of the previously undefeated Red Raiders as they picked up the tide 148 yards rushing for the Comets. The Comet line opened very large holes in the Edgewood defense and also proved themselves on defense by holding the Red Raiders to a scant 37 yards rushing. Edgewood, however, held a slight edge in first downs, six to four, and also in passing yardage. Red Raider Quarterback Robert Malesky completed 3 out of 6 passes for 60 yards but he also got three of his passes intercepted by the alert Comet pass defense. Keller passed twice for the Comets and completed one for 30 yards.

Mark Kempf opened the scoring for the night as he ripped off a beautiful 59 yard touchdown run on the fifth play of the game. Lynn Tschirhart failed in his conversion try for extra point. The Comets got rolling once more in the early minutes of the second quarter. Lynn Tschirhart intercepted on Edgewood a pass on the Red Raider 10 yard line but on the next play a fifteen yard penalty against the Comets moved the piggskin to the 20. Mark Kempf then ripped off the tackle to the 10, and as he was being wrestled to the ground the ball was jarred from his grasp. The slippery piggskin skidded across the double-stripe and Comet Halfback Charles Haby pounced upon it for a touchdown. Lynn Tschirhart passed to Kempf for the extra point.

The third and final Comet score came as a result of another pass interception, this time by Linebacker Glennis Stein on the Edgewood 25 yard line. Harold Keller promptly picked up a first down to the 11, and one the next down he plunged from that point over to pick up the tally. A pass for extra point failed and minutes later the half ended and the Comets had the game, 19 to 0.

Next week, Sunday, November 1, the Comets travel to Corpus Christi to meet the Cavaliers of that city. Last year the mighty Cavaliers downed the hapless Comets, 30 to 7. This year, however, the game is expected to be a very tight and hard-fought one, as pre-game records show.

THE PATIENT, A HELP OR HINDRANCE

On the hospital team the patient is the key player. By his attitude alone he can influence the course of his illness, and he can be a definite help or hindrance in treatment.

In what ways can he help? By cooperation with the hospital staff in treatment and by his spirit to recover. Newspapers often carry accounts of people who literally "refuse to die."

Even after entering a hospital, thought by many to be a highly impersonal institution, the patient keeps his "personality." He reacts in certain ways to the doctors and nurses and others whom he sees daily and they, in turn, react to him. Such relationships can be warm and satisfying. In general, hospital staff members feel that by maintaining attitudes of cheerfulness, helpfulness, and courtesy they encourage the patient to assume these virtues, which will be to his advantage. Sometimes, however, if the patient is sunk in despair or self-pity, they can't seem to get through.

Most of us want sympathy when we are ill. Sympathy is extended freely to the patient who shows some understanding of the problems of nurses, doctors, and other hospital personnel and who shows courtesy in his dealings with them.

Certainly there are exceptions—days when the patient feels so miserable he doesn't want anyone around him or an occasional clash of personality between him and others. But if he isn't able to get along with most of the hospital staff, he might want to take stock to see if the fault perhaps lies in him.

To improve his "battering average" and to assure good care for him and his fellow patient, as well, here are a few rules of "sickroom etiquette" for the patient.

1. Try not to make too great demands on the nurse's time. Make your wishes known early, and try to avoid calling her ten minutes after she leaves the room.

2. Avoid "shop talk." Don't ask her about other patients; professional ethics forbid her revealing such information. To see why, try to imagine some other patient is asking her about you.

Javelinas Break Long Fast By Downing Owls 6-0

By Paul Holliday

A very small crowd saw the Hondo Owls and the Crystal City Javelinas battle for three and a half scoreless quarters in a scoreless tie before Tommy Allen of Crystal City went around his own right end for 19 yards and the score.

The field was very muddy from rain that fell throughout the game. Crystal City outgained the Owls 212 yards to 142 yards. Most of the Crystal City yardage was made on long runs by Williams and Tommy Allen of Crystal City.

Richard Schulte of the Owls played a standout game on defense, and Monte Williams and Johnny Morin played well on offense. This was the first time since Coach Tom Bridges has taken over coaching the Hondo team that Crystal City has been victorious in this annual game.

The Owls play the Cotulla Cowboys at Cotulla Friday night, October 30th, at 8:00 P. M.

Seeking Trace Of Walleyed Pike In Texas Waters

Specially equipped crews are seeking trace of the walleyed pike planted in two large Texas lakes last spring.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission said this work is proceeding under a special Dingell-Johnson project.

The Dingell-Johnson Act provides for a Federal tax on fishing equipment and earmarking of the revenues for fish improvement work.

Walleyed pike were introduced into Texas this year through the joint efforts of the Federal hatcheries and the Commission. One half million young pike were placed in Lake Travis, one of the Highland Lakes chain north of the city of Austin. The same number of fingerlings was released in Devils Lake, near Del Rio on the Mexican border.

Several reports have been received of walleye catches but the Chief Aquatic Biologist believed the fishermen concerned had been deceived by log perch or darters. They are similar in appearance to walleyes but both have black dots in the middle of the base of their tails, a distinguishing mark which the walleyes do not have.

One fairly authentic report came from a man fishing in Lake Travis who said he caught what he believed to be a walleye while fishing with a minnow in thirty feet of water. Minnows are the favorite walleye bait.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist said the Commission solicits co-operation of fisherman in tracing walleyes but requested that, where possible, they bring in or send in the specimens to the Commission headquarters in the Walton Building, Austin.

He said the walleyes necessarily are confined to Lake Travis and Devils Lake although sooner or later some are expected to get into Lake Waik below Devils Lake and Lake Austin below Lake Travis.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist said it is known for certain that some of the walleyes thrived and grew quickly. These comprised a small number that escaped into ponds of the San Marcos State Fish Hatchery where the consignment of eggs was hatched.

Theoretically, the surviving walleyes will attain adulthood by spring and begin reproducing by next summer.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist said he doubted that walleyes would be suitable for stocking the new Falcon Lake on the Mexican border since the lake will be "too muddy bottomed for pike which prefer sandy, gravelly, and clear water."

FISH HATCHERY BASS BLIGHT NIPPED

AUSTIN—Apparent solution of a problem costing Possum Kingdom State Fish Hatchery half of its bass production was announced by the Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission.

He said the damage has been traced to a fungus growth and that now a treatment seemingly has been found to treat the water to destroy the infection successfully.

According to the Chief Aquatic Biologist bass production at the big Possum Kingdom Hatchery has been hampered ever since operations were begun four years ago.

Hatchery workers observed that part of the eggs in almost every bass nest would be ruined. Commission aquatic biologists then traced the cause to a fungus growth which seems to thrive in this particular water.

Finally, it was convincingly shown through microscopic study that the fungus was most damaging when the water was cool.

Thus, previous suspicion was dropped that the loss of eggs might have originated from toxic effects of the volcanic clay used to seal the ponds or sudden drops in the water temperature due to late northers.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist said the deciding discovery was made with the aid of the Midwestern University botanical staff. Examination made at the Wichita Falls school disclosed fungus spores actually attacking bass eggs.

In the course of the studies, it was found that a copper sulphate solution checked the infection without damaging the bass fry or eggs, but killed the plankton in the pools and caused the surviving baby bass to die from starvation. Now, a weaker mixture

LAW DIGESTS BEING MAILED TO SPORTSMEN

AUSTIN—Three hundred fifty thousand copies of the new Fish Laws Digest are mailed out for the benefit of hunters and fishermen.

The Chief Clerk of the Game and Fish Commission said official guides to all hunting and fishing regulations are sent to Game Wardens, County and Licensed Deputies.

He said a limited supply digest supplement, covering migratory game birds such as waterfowl and doves, has been sent to each of the individual agencies handling hunting and fishing licenses. The supplement was necessary since the regulations for migratory game set after the printing deadline of the regular Digest.

The information in the new pamphlets, according to Chief Clerk, is designed to help Texans as to the what, where, how on hunting and fishing suggested that persons finding material inadequate should tact their local game warden.

PLAYHOUSE TRAGEDY

The City Council of Houston passed an ordinance fining anyone for abandoning or dangerously exposing ice boxes or refrigerators without removing the doors or latches. There have been a number of children who suffocated in such boxes and Houston felt it was time that something be done to remedy the situation.

There are a number of old ice boxes and refrigerators about the city that may be the next news item on the death of a child or children, if the owners haven't foresight enough to either destroy the boxes or remove the latches. Children are just naturally curious and there hasn't been a child yet who doesn't love a "playhouse" even if it is an old cardboard carton or a blanket "tent" thrown over a clothesline or rope. Small wonder that they find ice boxes and refrigerators such wonderful "houses" with the attractiveness of doors on them.

It isn't necessarily true that you can prevent some of these accidents from happening but in this one instance you can. The case before it happens. For the sake of the beautiful children who live in our town, please get rid of the death traps.

A newspaper is a business as well as a public service. It must be a business which pays its own way without government subsidy or gift from class or industry. It must put material worth the price of subscription and advertisement.

If it does this and maintains its self-respect, in that it tells the news as it happens with respect to its importance, it is a public service. Otherwise it might become a service sold to the highest bidder. The greatest danger here is that the ignorant will accept its front page as truth and the informed will lose respect for all journalism. Because of this, truth is the greatest goal of journalism. SECO PHILOSOPHER CLAIMS

HE'S AHEAD OF INDUSTRIAL CITIES, HIS OPERATIONS ALREADY DISPERSED

Editor's note: The Seco Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has completely misinterpreted the latest defense ideas, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I've noticed in nearly every newspaper that turns up out here lately there's a lot of discussion once more over the atom bomb and how many cities in the United States are vulnerable to attack. As I understand it, the experts have figured out there are 87 American cities important enough to bomb in case an enemy decides on a sneak attack, which only goes to show the goal of most towns to get bigger and bigger is not necessarily the safest goal you can have. When the bigger a city gets, the more it becomes a prospective target, there's some argument to my contention that backwardness has its place these days too.

But what has interested me about the discussion over the 87 cities is that the experts are arguing they've got to be dispersed. They've got to scatter their vital industries out in the country, to cut down on their chances of getting hit all at the same time.

I think this is a good idea and I'm proud to report that while my farm ain't exactly what you might call a primary target, I'm not taking any chances, and I have already dispersed my operations.

For example, instead of bringing my planter back to the shed after I got through planting last spring, I left it at the turnrow. I got my bedders over in another field, I got my trailer pretty well dispersed, one wheel fell off the last time I used it and I dragged it in on the axle. Some people have gotten in the habit of assuming my operations are based on laziness, but what it amounts to is foresightedness. I'm in the forefront, it's purely a defensive measure. Not only are the implements scattered all over the farm, they're pretty well camouflaged, covered up in weeds and rusted to keep the sun from glinting on em. In fact, I've even got my fences in such shape I can disperse my cattle on a moment's notice without using a gate. Just cut one or two pieces of baling wire and the way is clear.

I tell you, cities could learn a lesson from my farm operations. What most people have considered the height of laziness and backwardness has turned out to be in the forefront of modern thought.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Loss Of Hearing Studied By Psychologists

AUSTIN — University of Texas educational psychologists are investigating new ways of detecting hearing loss in its early stages, an important factor in preventing some types of deafness.

The research is being conducted in a $7,400 sound-treated laboratory with custom-built equipment designed especially for this project. Dr. William G. Wolfe, associate professor of educational psychology, is in charge.

The late W. K. Sheppard of Corpus Christi, a retired grocer who died in 1947, bequeathed $10,000 for use in "perfecting the relief and cure of deafness." He had tried futilely for many years to find a cure for his wife's deafness.

The fund was given to the University in 1951, with Mr. Sheppard's approval. Since that time, the nature of the research has been determined, and the laboratory planned, designed and built.

Persons with normal hearing will be tested first. Then individuals with hearing loss will be examined. Conventional tests will be followed by the Psychogalvanic Skin Response test of hearing. Dr. Wolfe said he hopes to perfect improvements in the relatively new PGSR method, pioneered by Dr. William G. Hardy of Johns Hopkins University. Hearing is measured by sweat-gland responses to sound and mild shock.

Selected individuals with hearing loss will cooperate in the tests. Results of the research will be made available to the public after the project has been completed.

A DESERVED TRIBUTE

TO A DEPARTED

FELLOW

TOWNSMAN

HENRY ELI MERRIMAN

The story of the country boy who went to town and made a success of life in the city has been a favorite theme of the novelist since the beginning of fiction writing.

But this story is not one of fiction; it is a recital of some of the factual events in the life of a boy who grew up with his town, whose entire life was intimately associated with the life of the town and whose loyalty and efforts contributed materially to the growth of the town.

In fact, it can be truthfully said that he and his town practically grew up together, and his affection for his hometown was in mutual accord with his townspeople's regard for him.

Henry Eli Merriman was born on a ranch, about five miles south of the town of Hondo, on November 16, 1883, when the town, only about two years old, was little more than a whistling station on the prairie, it having been so established by the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio Railroad when it built west from San Antonio in 1881.

The subject of this sketch was the paternal grandson of Dr. E. T. Merriman, a native of Connecticut who migrated to Texas from Bristol in that state about 1848, bringing with him all of his family save an elder son, Henry, an uncle of the man about whom we write and after whom he was named.

After landing at Houston, the Doctor went to Bastrop, then later to San Marcos and thence to Nueces County, practicing his profession all the while, and engaging extensively in ranching in the latter county, and died there some time after the Civil War. Having cast their fortune with the South, the family had the sad experience of having the father and three of the sons in the service of the Confederacy while the elder son, who had remained in Connecticut, served in the Federal army, was captured by the Confederates and suffered the hardships of a long imprisonment before being released.

Of the several sons and daughters of the family, four came to Medina County in the early '80's and settled in this locality with their families. They were J. E. Merriman, John C. Merriman and sisters, Mrs. Allen R. Richardson and Mrs. S. P. Fusselman, all now deceased.

Among these were J. E. Merriman, one of the three Confederate veterans, and his wife, nee Ledufcia Richardson, who with their two eldest daughters, moved here in April 1882 from near Banquette, Nueces County.

They settled on a ranch near the Archer Lake, then an extensive "water-hole" near the present Raymond Bailey home but which long ago dried up and disappeared.

Here they remained for little more than a year, during which time the subject of this sketch, their eldest son, Henry Eli, was born.

Later he bought the Moore farm, some distance to the northeast of his first location, and moved there and resided until about 1885, when having acquired some land within the present corporate limits of Hondo, he moved his farm house to town and with it and some additional lumber built the house now occupied by John Schueling and family.

The subject of our sketch informed the writer that it was while living there that he got his first experience as a farmer while hoeing corn in the field where now stand many new and attractive homes in the Barkuloo Addition.

From this location, the family moved back to a new home, built on the Moore farm, in 1895 and where Henry grew to manhood and his parents resided until the end of their lives; the property, known as the J. E. Merriman home, still belongs to members of the family.

Henry received his education in the Hondo public school, beginning at an early age.

He had an alert mind and showed an early knack at computing figures, so much so that his fellow sharer of "the distinction of making the honor roll," D. Harper Fly, Esquire, recalls that Henry's first day at school, when, being too young to attend as a pupil, he was brought as a visitor by his older cousin, Jack M. Fusselman, who took pride in having him give the children an exhibition of how he could count and add and subtract numbers before he had ever enrolled in school.

Later he got his first years of schooling in the old school building, recently displaced by the new duplex on 20th Street, and which had been converted into a residence and owned for years by Mrs. Frances Keller.

Following the family's removal back to the farm, Henry continued his acquisition of an education by riding some five miles to school, facing at times the northers in an open gig and sometimes being followed by coyotes through the brushy pastures that then constituted most of the way.

Eventually, to quote a classmate, he was "promoted to go up stairs," which meant to the second story of the then new two-story school building, where to finish the prescribed course was to complete one's schooling.

This was during the tenure of Prof. B. B. Elder as Principal of the school and on the occasion of the school's first "Homecoming" observance in 1940. The Anvil Herald carried a column article written by Mr. Merriman, reminiscent of those days. The article was reprinted on the occasion of the second Homecoming in 1953, and would make interesting reading today but is too long for repetition here; it was characteristic of his close observance, his keen memory for details and a lively interest in the preservation of the historic events of the times as they pass.

At this point, we can only briefly mention that Frontier Times, in its issue of January 1933, carried a historical sketch, written by Mr. Merriman of Hondo's first pioneer, Judge G. W. Harper, who with his family moved from Gonzales in 1845 and settled on the Hondo creek about two miles north of the present town of Hondo.

His treatment of the subject covered, in a clever and interesting manner, the history of the judge and members of his family from the pioneer days, with their dangers and hardships, down to the time of its composition, a period of some 90 years during which descendants of the family have played — and still play — an active and commendable part in the life and the growth of the community.

Its reprinting here would add interest — and too much length — to this article; and to quote another writer — "that is another story" in itself!

It was during his early boyhood days on the farm that he and his younger brother, James, earned their first money — and the hard way!

Those were the days when much of the brush lands were being cleared for cultivation in farm crops, and in their spare time, the boys cut the heavier timber into cord-wood lengths and on Saturdays their father hauled it to town, sold it for firewood — natural gas was not then available — and gave the proceeds to them, thus allowing them to acquire the spending money they required.

During this period, and when only about fourteen years of age, he joined the Hondo Brass Band in which he played the clarinet, and rode his pony the five miles at night for band practice; later he participated in a local school band, and maintained a life-long interest in music.

After completing his common school education in Hondo, he attended the San Antonio Business College where he completed the prescribed six-months book-keeping course in four months of study.

Shortly after completing this business course, at the age of nineteen, he accepted a position as bookkeeper for the firm of Schmitt & Steinhardt, then the leading merchants of Hondo, and retained it until the firm went out of business about 1919.

At this time, in association with E. R. Leinweber, Charles Metzger and Fritz DeGrodt, he helped in the organization of the E. R. Leinweber Company, a general merchandise business, and became the Treasurer and Manager for the firm.

Following Mr. Metzger's retirement some years ago, he became its President and Manager, and continued in that capacity until his death on August 24, 1933. Despite the heavy responsibilities of his business connections, he found time for active participation

WHATCHA COLUMN

By Sally Brucks

Last week, I probably shouldn't mention, but that's the nice thing about writing—you readers are so defenseless! Since you got a column "sandwich" without any filling, you might get last week's paper and stick the following paragraphs in between the two which appeared there. This is what we call "delayed"—and I've no doubt on one or two of the items, I'll get some delayed action! Just remember that when it comes to getting things put in the paper, not even an editor has prerogatives!

WC
MRS. J. D. SCHWEERS, our Dunlay correspondent, was greatly impressed with the well prepared flower beds, enriched with leaf mold, that her neighbors, the SAM TSCHIRHARTS, had worked on. She is already envisioning a gorgeous array of flora.
Did I ever tell you about the flower beds I slaved over when we first moved into our castle on Avenue M, about ten years ago?

First came the seed catalogs, the like of which there's nothing better to lead you down the flowery path of a mild form of insanity. With feverish energy, blistered hands, and aching back, flower beds were dug seeds planted, slips transplanted, water poured on, and smugness set in.
Then—came the neighbor's chickens! Once more, with determination and the skillet ready, the replanting took place. After several weeks of careful tending, I was told by the head of the house that what I thought were my carefully tended seeds raising their little green heads, I had a magnificent stand of weeds.

After this (my first and last attempt at growing flowers), I came to the conclusion that a green thumb I have not and that my head is very much so concerning the growing of flowers.
But—I do modestly admit to one of the most verdant stands of weeds in Medina County.

WC
My sparring partner, D.R.
JOHN HENRY JENNINGS, had a few harsh words with me concerning the 30 and 40 years ago column. I was delighted after reading the item concerning him to find that he was nearer my age. With unbounded delight, I was set to let matters rest where they were, but I had to have my glasses readjusted and worked on. It seems that if the correction isn't forthcoming in this issue, I'll get a bill for fixing my glasses. Since I can't see to hear it thunder without my spectacles, please be advised that the headings on the 30 and 40 years ago items were reversed last week and Dr. Jennings is NOT 40 years old—yet.

WC
You know, I thought that we clinging vines held the market for being a little bit childish about our organizations and our slant on club administration. I'm still chortling over the fact that great big he-men have their moments, too.
There are two clubs which stem from a unified program but with a slight difference in membership rules. A slip of the typewriter called one faction by the other's name and I got admonished in a firm tone of voice.
This started me to thinking about how much importance we place on the name of our organizations instead of the good works that could be accomplished in selfless service. We are a small city with many organizations, each working to make the club name known on individual small projects. If all organizations would unite—in effort only—to better the welfare of our children and the improvement of our city, and forget club names and club glory in the achievement of a united goal, there is no limit to what could be accomplished.
I'll lend you my soap box sometime, if you feel like arguing the point!

WC
Any of you ever listen to the Johnnie Dollar detective series over the radio? Was scanning the pictures on the wall in the Sheriff's office while waiting to talk to him the other day, and found that one of the criminals wanted for murder is known as "Johnnie Dollar." Concerning detective stories over radio, I'll venture an opinion that there are more ways than one of committing murder.

WC
If all our news sources were as prompt as HARRY BEHAL, what a ball this business of reporting would be. Called him about the names of the VFW picnic which appears on the front page.
I thought he'd wait until morning before getting the info to me.

He was in the office about 15 minutes after I talked to him.
When you find someone who doesn't do tomorrow what he can do today—that's news!

WC
MRS. MAUDE BULGERIN was probably wondering what on earth the girls at the telephone office were whispering and giggling about on Tuesday, October 20. She found out when they presented her with a beautiful white corsage commemorating her 39th year with the telephone company.
Mrs. Bulgerin was the happiest gal in Medina County that day!

WC
LITTLE JOHNNIE MORALES
has a reprieve on that second nerve operation. He has responded so well, thus far, that DR.
DAVID OLIVER says he'll check
him again on January 8, to determine whether he'll need it or not. Johnnie slept in his braces up until a few weeks ago when the doctor gave permission to let him go to bed without them.
He has them off two hours before his bath so he can be exercised to strengthen his little legs.

MRS. MORALES said that she has kept a scrap book of the AH
stories and had shown it to Dr.
Oliver. He told Mrs. Morales that he would like to add his gratitude to hers in thanking the publisher
and the people of Hondo for responding to Johnnie's need for financial help. The N. P. POPE AGENCY sent in a $5 check which Johnnie will get the first time he comes by for a visit.
The money, which you so generously gave, will go for new shoes and braces on January 8.

WC
It isn't spring and it's past
June, but love has a way of adding the minds of the best of us.
Take, for instance, the case of ERNA LEE BENDELE. She received word that her fiancé JOE BALZEN was to be sent to San Marcos from Arkansas where he has been stationed and that she would get to see him very soon.
The girls at the telephone office
couldn't get Erna to come down off her pink cloud long enough to make intelligent conversation,
and she left the office at noon
via the pink cloud to go out and tell her folks the good news. She stayed to lunch and set the table
for her mother, still cloud-borne.
Soup plates and water glasses
reached the table without mishap,
due, no doubt, to the fluffiness of the cloud, and then her mother told her to take the pitcher and fill the glasses. Erna, amenable to suggestion, did as she was told. When she completed going around the table at her task, she came to long enough to realize that she had very carefully filled each soup plate with water and the glasses were waiting to receive the soup, no doubt! Well, as one of the French poets once wrote, "The first sign of love is the last of wisdom."

WC
Lest the very young think they

MRS. MAUDE BULGERIN was probably wondering what on earth the girls at the telephone
office were whispering and gig-

20. She found out when they pre-

year with the telephone company.
Mrs. Bulgerin was the

that day!

LITTLE JOHNNIE MORALES
has a reprieve on that second nerve operation. He has responded so well, thus far, that DR.
DAVID OLIVER says he'll check
him again on January 8, to determine whether he'll need it or
not. Johnnie slept in his braces
up until a few weeks ago when the doctor gave permission to let him go to bed without them.
He has them off two hours before his bath so he can be exercised to strengthen his little legs.

MRS. MORALES said that she has kept a scrap book of the AH
stories and had shown it to Dr.
Oliver. He told Mrs. Morales that he would like to add his gratitude
to hers in thanking the publisher
and the people of Hondo for responding to Johnnie's need for financial help. The N. P. POPE
AGENCY sent in a $5 check
which Johnnie will get the first time he comes by for a visit.
The money, which you so generously gave, will go for new shoes and braces on January 8.

WC
It isn't spring and it's past
June, but love has a way of adding the minds of the best of us.
Take, for instance, the case of ERNA LEE BENDELE. She received word that her fiancé JOE
BALZEN was to be sent to San Marcos from Arkansas where he has been stationed and that she would get to see him very soon.
The girls at the telephone office
couldn't get Erna to come down
off her pink cloud long enough
to make intelligent conversation,
and she left the office at noon
via the pink cloud to go out and tell her folks the good news. She stayed to lunch and set the table
for her mother, still cloud-borne.
Soup plates and water glasses
reached the table without mishap,
due, no doubt, to the fluffiness
of the cloud, and then her mother told her to take the pitcher and fill the glasses. Erna, amenable to suggestion, did as she was told. When she completed going around the table at her task, she came to long enough to realize that she had very carefully filled
each soup plate with water and the glasses were waiting to receive the soup, no doubt! Well,
as one of the French poets once
wrote, "The first sign of love is the last of wisdom."

tion in church and civic organizations, having served as a steward of his church, the local Methodist church, for a number of years as well as church secretary and treasurer until ill health forced him to resign.

He served as a trustee on the school board for 25 years, probably the longest tenure of any in that position.

He was active in the town's civic organizations and held offices at various times in the Lions' Club and Chamber of Commerce.

He was one of the organizers of the Chamber of Commerce as he was, also, of the town's second Odd Fellows Lodge No. 867, in which he took an active part in its degree team, and later he served five years as Treasurer of Hondo City Lodge No. 756, of Ancient, Free & Accepted Masons.

To his every position of public trust, he gave that same careful and efficient attention that he gave his own business and so achieved success in his aims and commanded the confidence and esteem of those he served.

From his young manhood throughout his entire life, he kept abreast of the times and adapted himself to its changes.

Though equipped with the "last word" of up-to-date transportation in a rubber-tired trap and a fast-stepping horse, he discarded the same promptly upon the advent of the automobile and brought to Hondo its first sport car, a Cole 30 No. 25.

On April 11, 1916, he was married to Miss Jessie Brewster, daughter of a long-time family friend of his own family, the ceremony taking place at Travis Park Methodist Church in San Antonio.

He built his wife a lovely home on 19th Street where she still resides and where their only daughter, Betty Jean, was born and grew to young womanhood. As Mrs. O. G. Wellborn, she resides in Alvin, Texas, with her husband and their three children, Sharon Frances, O. G. III, and Henry Merriman Wellborn.

His brothers and sisters are James F. Merriman, Mrs. Fannie Fusselman and Mrs. Annie Allen of San Antonio, and Mrs. Bessie Clements and Mrs. Aurelia Crow of Hondo.

An even tempered man, he lived a tranquil life, respected by all who knew him, and when death closed his mortal career on August 24, 1953, at the age of 69 years, 9 months and 8 days, his passing was mourned by all and there were none to speak ill.

A native son, a life-long resident, an active participant in the community's business and social affairs, his life was an open book—without a stained or blotted page!

From where I sit ... by Joe Martin

It's the Principal of the Thing!

Every autumn our High School has a contest to see who can get the most ads for The Recorder—the school magazine. The winner becomes honorary Principal for a day.

Skip Roberts won last week, and his first (and only) official act as "Principal" of the school was to announce in a loud, clear voice: "I hereby declare today a school holiday!"

Knowing Miss Gilbert, the real principal, it was no surprise to me that she laughed as hard as anybody else ... and said to go right ahead.

From where I sit, it's no wonder our youngsters think Miss Gilbert's such a wonderful person (even though they say they'll have to make up a day). Her tolerance, her friendly way with people of all ages, her respect for the school, her preference for tea but always a glass of beer. As a real person, any community, Miss Gilbert longs at "the head of the class."

Motorists Urged To Watch Out For Kid "Spooks"

"Halloween is just around the corner, and the traffic goblins will get you if you don't watch out!"

This isn't an idle threat from the kindergarten set, it's a deadly serious warning from, of all people, Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association.

"Sure, I believe in goblins," Col. Tilley said today as he discussed the dangers that lurk in Texas streets and highways on Halloween. "But don't get me wrong, I'm not talking about the spooks that bring scared squeals from the youngsters. The goblins I fear are the traffic goblins who victimize unwary kids as they go about their 'haunting' on Halloween."

He spoke in support of the Night Traffic Hazards program which the Texas Safety Association and the Texas Department of Public Safety are conducting during October.

Col. Tilley pointed out that youngsters are likely to let safety rules go by the board in the excitement of scaring and being scared on Halloween. He said, "Many of the child fatalities and injuries that occur on this holiday are caused by youngsters dashing out into the street, often dressed in dark costumes and wearing masks."

"Masks prevent the children from seeing clearly," he said, "and dark costumes prevent the motorists from seeing them. It would help a lot if parents would try to get the kids to take off the masks when they go outdoors. Parents should also see that the youngsters wear only light colored costumes or outfits trimmed with white or reflectorized material."

"The best way to keep the kids safe," Col. Tilley said, "is to keep them off the streets. I know this isn't easy, but if parents plan home or community parties, it can be done."

He urged parents to band together to see that sufficient parties and gatherings are provided in their communities to keep the youngsters entertained. If this is done, he said, there will be little inducement for them to go roaming the streets.

He also reminded motorists to keep a constant look-out for children and to be especially careful when driving in residential areas.

LACOSTE EAGLES FLY OVER MUSTANGS 25-0

By E. H. Whittington

NATALIA—The Mustangs suffered a sound thrashing Thursday night at the hands of the LaCoste Eagles to the tune of 45 to 0 before 300 spectators. Never at any time during the entire game did the Mustangs threaten the Eagle's goal line; however, the first period was the most evenly matched contest of the evening.

LaCoste's Joe Alvarado kicked off to the Mustangs in the south end of the field, taken on the 20 by Juan Guzman, and after a short return, the ball was fumbled and recovered by Hutzler for the Eagles. The Eagles failed to make enough ground for a first down and the ball went over to the Mustangs on their 30. Hester tried the line for no gain, then on the next play the ball was fumbled and the Eagles again recovered on the Mustang 25. The LaCoste boys drew 5 yards for offside; Franklin Bohl then lost 5 yards on an attempted end round; the Eagles drew 15 yards for roughing, making it 3rd down and 25 for the visitors. They punted to the Mustangs' 5 yard line. Joe Whitley went through the center of the line for 5; two other ground plays lacked about a yard of being enough for a first down. The Mustangs gambled and won, coming up with a first down on the 25 yard line. Stenson circled left end for about 5 yards; a screen pass netted 2 yards, and Hester hit the line for enough to make a first down on the 35. The Eagle line tightened and the locals failed to gain the yardage for a first down, so they punted very short, and the Eagles took over on the Mustang 30. From this point, they marched steadily on the ground to a touchdown and kicked the extra point. Joe Alvarado kicked to the Mustangs 15, taken there by Raul Dominguez and returned to the 30 as the first quarter ended with the score 7 to 0 in favor of the Eagles.

After this the Eagles scored almost at will, with LaCoste's Calvin Hutzler giving the fans their greatest thrill of the evening when he shook himself loose in mid field and took off down the far sideline for pay dirt, by simply out running everyone on the field, even to the officials.

In this writer's opinion, this is the team to watch in District B competition.

Owls Intend To Bring Victories Home To Roost

The Cotulla Cowboys lassoed the San Felipe Mustangs last week by 12-6 victory, while Carrizo Springs and Pearsall tied at 20-20 in their tilt.

The Hondo Owls still have the four teams to meet in District 29-A tilts, with Cotulla next up on the list to be played there.

After the exciting game last week, when Crystal City won their first game against Hondo in fifteen years, the Owls are more determined than ever to bring their last four games of the season home to roost.

Wildcats Win Over Lytle Pirates, 25-6

By Malcolm Reeves

Bouncing back from last week's 21-0 loss to Brackettville, the Castroville Wildcats downed the Lytle Pirates 25-6 on a slippery, rain-soaked field here Friday night. This non-conference match was played in a downpour of rain.

The first period was scoreless for both teams as sheets of rain fell on Lions Field. Most of the spectators watched from automobiles as the Wildcats scored two touchdowns in the second quarter. W. R. Sittre tore through the middle after a Pirate punt had been blocked for one TD, then Nelson Bippert plunged over for another and Sittre drove across for the extra point.

The Wildcats opened up the second half with another ground attack which added two more TD's. W. R. Sittre scored on a 30 yard run, then later in the period Nelson Bippert again hit pay dirt when he plowed over center.

Joe Minton score the Pirates lone touchdown late in the fourth period when he broke loose around end on a 36 yard jaunt. Score by periods: Wildcats, 0-13-12-0. Pirates, 0-0-0-6.

The Wildcats play two more games at home: Sabinal on October 30, and Dilley, November 20. Both are Class 32-B Conference games.
